Please and Thank You

Materials

• Stuffed animal, action figure, or doll

How to Play

1. Have the toy ask your child to perform various tasks, using please and thank you. For example:
   Keisha, please put your bear on your head. (Keisha puts her bear on her head.) Thank you, Keisha.

2. Let your child and other family members and friends take turns asking each other to please do something and then saying thank you.

Social and emotional learning helps children understand their emotions, show empathy for others, establish healthy relationships, set positive goals, and make responsible decisions.

SKILLS TAUGHT

CASEL Competency: Relationship skills
Sub-competencies: Social awareness, respect for others, communication, and social engagement